My grandmother is a Gozitan. She spent her childhood in the rural outskirts of Xewkija. This, she claims, taught her to experience a oneness with nature. The farms, the blossoming and death of plants, the animals and the seasonal cycles filled her childhood days. She insists that, in spite of certain hardships, these were happy days and it was at this time that she began to notice it – the special ability to sense things others could not feel, see or hear. An amazing ability I am now trying to learn from my grandmother.
